'Cuts' Subject Of Discussion

"What is the best policy for regulating class attendance at Wartburg colleges?" will be the subject to be chewed over by members of the group discussion class in the Little Theater Tuesday night at 7:30.

Under the supervision of Charles Olsson of the speech department this will be the first group discussion of its kind open to the public at Wartburg.

"If the turnout is good and the response is indicative of campus interest, the speech department will endeavor to make such discussion groups a regular event on next year's calendar," Olsson stated.

Both students and faculty are invited to attend the session which is scheduled to consist of a 30-minute panel discussion period followed by a 15-minute session of open audience questioning directed at members of the panel.

Moderator for the group will be Jerome Rigart, junior. Other members include Ed Fraker, senior; Fred Grossman, Conrad Grossnick, Gordon Henson and Oase Osterlund, juniors; Joe Sipion, sophomore, and Cy Weinstock, freshman.

In case of Outry on Tuesday, the program will be pushed to Wednesday night.

Symphony Concert Fri., May 14

Mervyn Brown

John Witt

Composed of 60 members, the Wartburg Community Symphony Orchestra will present its annual spring concert Friday, May 14, in the Knights' gymnasium guided by the baton of Ernest Hagen of the music department.

Featured on this year's program are Mervyn Brown and John Witt, piano duo from Waterloo, and Robert Larson, tenor and voice teacher at Wartburg.

Nationally recognized as outstanding pianists at the ages of 16 and 17, the team of Brown and Witt has played before the convention of the Third District of Iowa Federation of Music clubs at Des Moines and Waterloo, and also appeared at the Iowa State fair in addition to performing before many collegiate and other music groups.

Larson, Augustine Gred

Mr. Larson is a graduate of Augustana college at Rock Island, Ill., and the Chicago Musical college where he received his M.M. Before joining the music department here, he taught at Central college in Fayette, Mo.

The orchestra opens the concert with the "Triumphal March" from "Sigurd Jorsalfar" by Edvard Grieg. Turning to lighter air, the symphony plays "On Hearing the First Cuckoo in Spring" by Frederick Delius and closes the first portion of the concert with J. S. Bach's "Prelude in G Minor" and A. Corelli's "Adagio for String Orchestra."

Hendel's Work Offered

Mr. Larson then takes the spotlight as he sings his rendition of "Sound and Alarm" by Handel, Richard Strauss' "All Souls Day" and "Pledication" closing with an excerpt from Puccini's opera "La Boheme."

The young piano team of Brown and Witt closes the concert with its presentation of "Concerto for Two Pianos and Orchestra in D Minor" by Beethoven. Included in this year's symphony orchestra are 13 Wartburg music students.

Out with the old, in with the new. A Joint Senate session last Monday night served as the final convocation of the '53-'54 governing body under retiring SBP Eric Biedermann and the initial meeting of the new legislature led by president-elect Tom Loftus.

Business conducted by the joint body included completion of arrangements for Senior and Parents days, final report on the year's election results, discussion of a new accumulative voting system and notice of new method for collection of class dues.

20-Point Statement Presented

Biedermann presented a 20-point statement listing accomplishments of the retiring Senate.

The Senators arranged for guides both Senior day and Parents day and discussed possible ways in which the days could be made "the most convenient and enjoyable" for campus visitors.

Herrmann Gives Report

May Hartmann, permanent elections chairman, gave the final report of his committee, stating that while progress had been made, the perfect system had not yet been found. He also reported that the results of the Senatorial elections indicated that if the preferential system had been used, rather than the old system that the "one of each sex" constitutional clause would have been violated in most cases.

In one class, however, a woman did receive the highest number of votes.

New System Introduced

A new accumulative voting system, wherein each voter is allotted a certain number of points or votes and allowed to distribute them among the candidates, was introduced and given an experimental test. Bob Vogel, present soph class president and junior senator on the new body, took charge of the demonstration and is now doing more research on the matter.

Class presidents were informed that beginning next year, class secretaries and treasurers will be allowed to work in the office of the treasurer and collect class dues while students are registering. The method is designed to make collection of the funds swifter, easier and more economical.

Convo Offers Plaut, Cedar Rapids Rabbi

Rabbi Walter H. Plaut, leader of the Jewish community in Cedar Rapids, will deliver the address at convocation Thursday at 10 a.m.

Born in Berlin, Germany, Rabbi Plaut came to this country in 1937 to study at Franklin and Marshall college, Lancaster, Pa., where upon graduation he was awarded the prize for the outstanding student in fields of religion and philosophy.

Upon his ordination from the Hebrew Union college in Cincinnati, O., he served as the only rabbi of the state of North Dakota, and was responsible for the erection of the new temple at Fargo.

Mr. Plaut and his family went to Jerusalem in 1950, where he served as a research student in Bible at the Hebrew university. During his stay in Israel he traveled extensively and came in contact with many of the leading figures in this new state.

Players Reach Peak In 'Antigone'

By Gretchen Krueger
TRUMPET Feature Writer
After gaining momentum all year, Wartburg Players reached their peak in the final production, "Antigone," presented in the Little Theater's "stage-in-the-round" Wednesday, Thursday and Friday nights.

Although the play was built on long narrative speeches and a rapid pace of action, the cast held its audience throughout the dramatization.

Climaxing his dramatic career at Wartburg, Ted Heinicke, junior, played his most outstanding role as Creon, the king of Thebes. His performance injected the play into the most memorable production of the season.

Welcomed back to the Wartburg stage, Dwight Weubbers, junior, turned in a gripping presentation in the title role. With the aid of the audience into her final decision with an air of threat of character. Having possessed of the stage for a 45-minute scene, Iphigene and Heinicke built the tension to a riveting climax.

Treading the little Theater boards for the first time, George Hanna, senior, gave an admirable performance in the narrative role of Ismene.

Gregory Ingraham, freshman, played a moving interpretation of Ismene, Antigone's weak sister. The inviolate old nurse was portrayed by Shirley Crook, sophomore, who captured the spirit of her character in a pleasing manner. The part of the first guard was well played by Don Metzger, freshman.

Appearing in supporting roles, Jack Eske, junior, and Jim Sexton, senior, handled their parts satisfactorily. Conrad Grosvenick, junior, was an enthusiastic messenger, and the mute Supplis was portrayed by Melita Francis.

Patron Sings Up Play
Perhaps the play can be summed up by an anonymous patron who, on his way out of the theater Wednesday night, stopped before Charles Dickson, director, and questioned, "Are you the director?"

Mr. Dickson replied, "Yes, I am." The man, sitting in the other's hand, looked at him solemnly, swayed to and fro for the right words and said, "Thanks."

Brands Have Girl
Mr. and Mrs. Don Brandt became the parents of a 6 lb. 8 oz. girl, Gwendolyn Raye, Wednesday 8:53 a.m. at a sophomore, art-science student from Wausau, Wis.
